

ELECTRICITY MARKET KNOWLEDGE FOR BANKERS AND INVESTORS

WORKSHOP, 1 DAY

What revenues can you or your customers achieve on today's electricity market? The well-founded answer to this question is decisive for the success of project financing and investments in renewable energies. In the course of current market developments, power price forecasts and scenarios provide a reliable basis for evaluating projects, investments and business models. This workshop provides expertise on electricity market principles and on how price forecasts work. The content is specifically tailored to the needs of professionals and managers from the financial sector. Our experts discuss current trends in the electricity market with you in detail and explain how electricity price modelling works.

Possible contents

Introduction to the electricity market

- Price formation on the electricity and control reserve market
- Electricity market revenues from renewable energies

Correctly assessing risks and opportunities

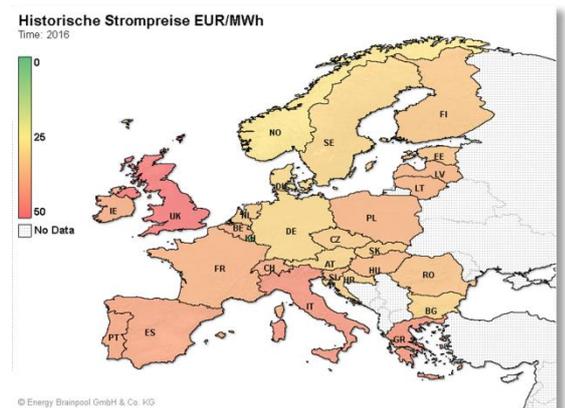

- The § 51 EEG 2017 six-hour rule
- Commodity price development
- Demand increase (e.g. e-mobility) and flexibility expansion (e.g. storage)
- Long-term price scenarios with fundamental models
- Price developments in different markets and their influences

A look into the future: outlook until 2050 and the influences of the current Coronavirus pandemic and the World Energy Outlook 2020

- EU Energy Outlook 2020 - power price scenario until 2050 for Europe
- Power plant fleet, generation and demand
- Fuel and EUA prices
- Electricity prices (base and peak load)
- PV and wind marketing revenues
- Extreme prices and revenue options Flexibility

Live modelling of a power price scenario

- With the fundamental model Power2Sim
- Modelling of a sensitivity with your questions and premises

TARGET GROUP

- Professionals and managers from the financial sector
- Employees from the departments analysis, risk management, financing and acquisition

YOUR BENEFITS

After this workshop you will be able to:

- explain the principles of the electricity market and powerprice forecasts,
- evaluate different price scenarios and assess risks,
- assess the current market situation and thus make more informed decisions on investments and financing.

In combination with this workshop, you can purchase Energy BrainReports (power price scenarios) at a reduced price.